It is an afternoon in August of 1833 in the Irish-speaking town of Baile Bag in County Donegal, Ireland. In a hedge school situated in an old barn, Manus, a lame man in his late twenties or early thirties, is teaching Sarah, a waif-like young woman with a severe speech defect, to say her name. In the corner is Jimmy Jack Cassie, a bachelor in his sixties who loves reading Homer aloud in ancient ...

Language. As the title indicates, the overriding themes of Brian Friel's Translations are all related to the power of language and the power that comes with controlling language. The play follows the British effort to completely reconstitute the native Irish language, giving anglicized names to places and things that already have Gaelic words attached to them.
